Date: Saturday, January 11, 2014
Time: 2:00p.m. - 5:30p.m.
Venue: K419, Knowles Building,
 The University of Hong Kong

Within Hong Kong's jurisdiction, the Shenzhen River Basin is comprised of several defined areas of North and Northeast New Territories, the Central Area, the Luk Ma Shan Long, and Northeast New Territories. To formulate a long-term sustainable development plan for the entire Shenzhen River Basin, there is a need to adopt a broader and holistic perspective to generate a strategic, historic and coordinated plan to tackle the challenges and explore the opportunities in this rapidly transforming urban landscape on both sides of the Shenzhen River.

This Forum is being organized as a part of The University of Hong Kong's 1st I.L.S. Training and Networking Project on Cross-Boundary Planning Processes.

The forum will be conducted in Cantonese and Putonghua.

Participating organizations

Achievements

- 1st comprehensive training programme on EIA for local ENGOs.
- 1st stakeholder dialogue forum on EIA in HK.
- 1st networking-cum-training workshop on cross-boundary issues for ENGOs based in Guangdong and HK.

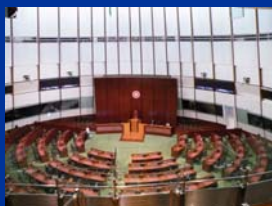

Impacts

- Raised awareness of the importance of public participation in the early stages of the EIA process
 - Partly resulted in the most detailed Study Brief in the history of EIA in HK - for the production of EIA report for "Expansion of Hong Kong International Airport into a Three-Runway System"
- Gathered and consolidated views from various stakeholder groups on HK's EIA process
- Capacity-building through forums with government representatives, academics, professionals and ENGOs
- Facilitated a joint submission by local ENGOs, to the Government, on a review of Hong Kong's EIA process

The expected impact!

- Upon the ENGO submission, a public hearing on HK's EIA process in the Environment Committee of LegCo (likely within the 1st quarter of 2014)

Thank you
