

Robin Groth

Co-founder and Communications & Education Director
Global Women - Partners in Philanthropy

Robin Groth is a Co-founder and Communications & Education Director of Global Women - Partners in Philanthropy (GWPP), which assists women around the world, including China, to work together and become effective philanthropists in their own communities utilizing the successful model of collective giving developed by the Washington Women's Foundation in Seattle. She has worked in project and program management for major networks including ABC, NBC, CBS and CNN as well as traveled to 25 developing countries for the international NGO, World Vision, reporting on the status of children's healthcare.