

Individual Giving of Ideas and Talent for Community Innovation

Business innovation searches for new product and new services for new or existing customers, while fill-in-the-gap is the driving motive of NGOs to provide innovative services. Then, can volunteers bring innovation to the services and benefit more people who may be neglected in the main stream? Empowering the individual and enhancing their capabilities, we assist them in finding the gifts in themselves and build a bridge between where the individual is and where they want to be.