

Ms Christina Tang

Founder, Blue Sky Energy Technology

Born and raised in Hong Kong, her zest for life and love for the planet has never diminished. She is passionate of solving problems with technology and creative business models. Her experience as a management consultant at Bain & Company led her to the Acumen Global Fellowship, which became the catalyst and birth of the start-up Blue Sky. During her time at Brown University, she launched Rainwater for Humanity, a rainwater harvesting organisation now supplying a million liters of clean water every year to communities in India. Christina was featured in Forbes, SCMP, and has worked in India, Ghana, New York, and Hong Kong.
