

Effective Advocacy by Nonprofit Organisations

Nonprofit organisations are vital to the representation of citizen interests to government. This interactive forum examines the increasingly important role of nonprofit organisations in influencing government practices and public policy and discusses strategies to increase the effectiveness of nonprofits in advocating for their organisations and their local communities.