Associate Professor
Department of Sociology
Johns Hopkins University

Professor Joel Andreas is an Associate Professor in Department of Sociology at Johns Hopkins University, studies political contention and social change in China. Currently, he is continuing to investigate changing labour relations and the ongoing transformation of China's rural society.

Professor Andreas' first book, Rise of the Red Engineers: The Cultural Revolution and the Origins of China's New Class (Stanford 2009), analysed the contentious merger of old and new elites following the 1949 Revolution. His second book, Disenfranchised: The Rise and Fall of Industrial Citizenship in China (Oxford 2019), traces radical changes that have fundamentally transformed industrial relations over the past seven decades.
