

Professor Jae Ho Chung

Professor of Political Science and International Relations
College of Social Sciences
Seoul National University

Biography

Jae Ho Chung is a Professor of Political Science and International Relations and Director of the Program on US–China Relations at Seoul National University. Professor Chung is a former Director of the Institute for China Studies and of the Center for International Studies at Seoul National University, Korea. Professor Chung is a graduate of Seoul National University, Brown University, and the University of Michigan where he received his PhD in 1993. Before joining Seoul National University, he taught at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology during 1993–96. He was also a CNAPS Fellow at the Brookings Institution during 2002–3 and Korea Foundation Visiting Professor at Renmin University of China in 2007. Professor Chung has served on the advisory committees for the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Trade, and of Reunification, and the National Security Council.

Professor Chung is the author or editor of fifteen books, including Central Control and Local Discretion in China (Oxford University Press, 2000), Charting China's Future (Rowman & Littlefield, 2006), Between Ally and Partner: Korea–China Relations and the United States (Columbia University Press, 2007), China's Crisis Management (Routledge, 2011), and Assessing China's Power (forthcoming). Professor Chung also published over 70 articles and book chapters, including six in China Quarterly. Professor Chung is the founding coordinator of the Asian Network for the Study of Local China (ANSLoC: <http://www.ansloc.net>). Professor Chung is a recipient of the MacArthur Foundation's Asia Security Initiative Grant on "Korea–China Relations and the US" for 2009 – 2012 (<http://masi.snu.ac.kr>) and of Seoul National University's Best Researcher Award in 2009. Professor Chung was also awarded the Best Research Book Award by the Korean Association for International Studies in 2012.