

Professor Jamie Peck
University of British Columbia

Jamie Peck is Canada Research Chair in Urban & Regional Political Economy and Professor of Geography at the University of British Columbia, Canada, where he is a Distinguished University Scholar. With long-term research interests in geographical political economy, urban restructuring, and the critique of neoliberal statecraft, his recent books include Doreen Massey: critical dialogues (2018, Agenda, coedited with Marion Werner, Rebecca Lave & Brett Christophers); Offshore: exploring the worlds of global outsourcing (2017, Oxford); Fast policy: experimental statecraft at the thresholds of neoliberalism (2015, Minnesota, with Nik Theodore), and Constructions of neoliberal reason (2010, Oxford).