

Mr Ali Rod Khadem

PhD Candidate

Department of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations

Harvard University

Biography

Mr Ali Rod Khadem is currently a PhD candidate at Harvard University, and holds a JD from UC Berkeley, where he was an editor of the California Law Review. Mr. Khadem's doctoral research focuses on contemporary Islamic theories of world order, with emphasis on Sunni-Shi'ite sectarianism and ideological radicalism. His dissertation, recently completed, is entitled, "From the Islamic State to the Messiah's Global Government: Structures of the Final World Order, According to Contemporary Sunni and Shi'ite Theories."