Designed specifically for teachers, this workshop and guided field trip to Lam Tsuen River Catchment will enhance participants’ knowledge of rivers in the local context. A comprehensive database and drone videos on Lam Tsuen River will be presented in the workshop to introduce the multiple features of river. The field trip begins at natural streams in the upper course to highlight ecological functions of the river. Participants will also visit eco-friendly river channels, a pilot study site for ecological restoration, and waterworks infrastructure. Through this programme, they will familiarise themselves with mitigation measures that minimise the environmental impacts of channelisation works as well as river channel management issues in Hong Kong.
