

Professor Chen Qu

School of Psychology
South China Normal University

Biography

Professor Chen Qu is Professor in the School of Psychology at South China Normal University. Currently, she serves as deputy director of Guang Dong Society for Cognitive Science, member of Chinese Economic Psychology and Group of EEG related techniques, Chinese Psychology Society, etc. She received her PhD from the State Key Laboratory of Cognitive Neuroscience and Learning at Beijing Normal University in 2008.

Professor Qu's main research interests include management decision making, emotion regulation, and the underlying neural mechanisms. She has hosted numerous national general projects and youth projects from the Natural Science Foundation of China and published many papers in Current Biology, Plos Biology, Elife, and other top journals. She has won the first prize of National Outstanding Achievements in Higher Education and Guangdong Outstanding Achievements in Philosophy and Social Sciences.