

Professor Vincent Roscigno

Distinguished Professor of Arts and Sciences
Department of Sociology
The Ohio State University

Biography

Vincent Roscigno is Distinguished Professor of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University. He has enduring interests in social inequality, discrimination and exclusion, and most often with specific emphases on the institutions of education and employment. Roscigno is author of over 100 peer-reviewed articles and two books on related subjects, is prior editor of The American Sociological Review and Social Currents, and has served as President of the Southern Sociological Society and Council Member for the American Sociological Association. Currently he serves as Executive Officer of the Sociological Research Association, for which he will be President in 2026.